We help money flow to people and places where traditional finance doesn’t reach by maximizing the effectiveness of OFN member and non-member CDFIs through direct financing, learning opportunities, industry events, and advocacy.
About OFN

OFN is a leading national association of community development financial institutions. OFN was founded in 1986 to support and enhance the work of individual CDFIs by offering a national perspective and a collective voice. Since then, OFN’s membership has grown and evolved into a network of more than 360 CDFIs with nearly $30 billion in assets and our footprint is now nationwide. We provide capital, advocacy, and capacity building to help OFN member and non-member CDFIs create impact in rural, urban, and Native communities nationwide. OFN is also a CDFI. CDFIs invest in potential and promise and support future successes. We lend where it counts.

There is still much more to do. Providing access to responsible, affordable finance is the key to our success. We invite you to learn more about the issues, what’s at stake, and what we at OFN believe is still possible to achieve.
I NEED A LEADER AND A PARTNER WHO IS READY TO FIGHT FOR BIG CHANGE IN OUR FINANCIAL SYSTEM

America’s Community Development Financial Institutions (CDFIs) have proven that it is possible to lend fairly and successfully to build the wealth of low-income American communities and households. Dedicated to the fight against poverty, CDFIs have earned the right to grow their capital and capacity and amplify their collective voice. OFN needs a leader who is excited by this challenge of growth. We seek a rare combination—a fighter with vision who is also a humble listener. We seek someone who will build and grow our field of CDFIs by listening carefully to the experience, insight, and unique situation of our 360 members. We seek someone who will nurture the 20+-person investment and network team inside OFN as they move money to members, provide services, events and training and build a research capacity for members to justify their record and potential for impact. We seek someone who has experience understanding the nuanced needs of Wall Street investors but is ready to channel this knowledge towards the CDFIs who have built business models for growing small businesses, financing facilities in high poverty areas or closing the homeownership gap. We seek someone with a hunger to persuade a next generation of investors that the impacts of CDFI work are worth the pricing and supports needed for real success in the areas of highest poverty. Private companies have pledged to support a more racially just America, as well as an America that is committed to cleaner more resilient environment. We seek someone who can help us creatively translate these pledges into workable financial products that help CDFIs become the true “capillaries” of the American financial system. Our movement for financial justice and social change needs a fighter who is energized to use the current moment for long term change. The Chief Investment and Network officer is a leader who is ready to walk softly into elite boardrooms and humble storefronts but carry a big torch so that both the CDFI network and investors can see the way.

I invite you to review the attached and consider your potential to serve as the next Chief Investment & Network Officer of OFN. If you are an inspiring, energetic, entrepreneurial and collegial team leader with a track record of developing and executing on an ambitious strategic vision and advocating powerfully to mobilize and secure critical partnerships and resources to that end with a commitment to serve members of OFN and the communities they serve, we would be absolutely delighted to hear from you.

Most sincerely,

Lisa Mensah
